STOP OFFENDING!

One day after school Mrs. Anderson, AKA Officer Anderson, was walking home from school. Three junior high students approach. Their names were Trinity, Kylie, and Morgan all in the 7th grade. They asked her, "Do you want to hang out with us children's at the park later?"

"Umm.... Okay," Officer Anderson replied.

She thought to herself they aren't using correct grammar. OH MY GOODNESS! I have to catch them before they say anything else wrong: Next she gathers her partners Chief Rietgraf, and the rookie Officer Richie.

Later, they plan to meet up with the girls at the park, but the girls did not know. Even though the girls are already playing hide and seek. Trinity the one who was looking for them. She spots them getting out of the car. Yet she didn't get a chance to see their faces.

She quickly tries to whisper quietly to her friends so they can hear her. They quietly run out from their hiding places and go to the bathroom shelter. They each go into one stall and lock the door behind them. They stand on the toilet seat and they look out the little hole in the cement blocks. When they did they see the three ladies looking around.

About 30 minutes later, one of the girls Kylie said, "quiet they are getting close."

Morgan accidentally makes a loud sound with her feet. Mrs. Ritchie says "I think I heard something in there."

"Let's go investigate," replied Chief Rietgraf.

Officer Anderson thought to herself, "the girls their just junior high students, how smart could they really be."

They find their way in, and Kylie moves to get comfortable not knowing they snuck to the top of the shelter. Then it started to rain cats and dogs. It thundered and lightning struck. The police hurried. They find their way in, and Kylie moves to get comfortable not knowing She makes the slightest bit of noise with slipping her foot down to the dirty wet floor.

Chief Rietgraf kicks the door down. Officer Richie says, “ This is not necessary, they are just kids.”

“Your right,” says Officer Anderson.

Let’s just give them their lesson and leave. Mrs. Ritchie the girls Language teacher gave them the lesson. She starts with sentence fluency. The sentence fluency included compound sentences etc. From now on everyone calls them the grammar police.
