

I woke up in the middle of the the from a fright. I climbed out of my bed to grab a glass of water. It was silent, but too silent. I looked at the clock and it was 12:37, but I could have sworn it was earlier than that. So I walked around a little bit. I glanced at the christmas tree and I realized there was a different ornament that I had never seen before. I observe it more and it was a snow globe ornament. Inside it had the Hogwarts school inside, and instead of snow there were students flying around. I noticed a small opening and a tiny button. I pressed it and I didn't remember anything after that. Maybe I passed out.

I woke up in the middle of a library. So, I got up and looked around. I was dark and the lights were burnt out. It was really dusty and I couldn't help myself from sneezing. All of a sudden I thought heard someone talking, but there was no way someone could have been here. I walked around a bit more, and a book flew off of the book shelf. I spoke in a nervous voice "Who's there." Suddenly I saw a person in front of me appear. I asked, "Who are you." The person bolted for the door. I couldn't catch them in time, but at least I got out in time before the door closed.

After that I walked outside and I almost got hit by someone fighting past me. I yelled, "Hey watch where you're going." I saw a gold thing fly by me and so I grabbed it. It was shaped like a circle and it was shiny and golden. I saw my reflection in it and I had a scar across my face. It has never been there before, or at least I don't remember getting it. The person next to me gasped when she looked at me. She asked "a ar are you related to H." All of a sudden she disappeared. I passed out again and I didn't remember anything after that.

I woke up in a weird place I could barely describe. It was cold and dark and the walls were cement. I got up, but I was really sore and I had bruises all over me. I thought to myself what is going on? How did I even get here? How will I get out? Will I even get out? I heard a loud bang like something dropped, but nothing was there. I turned the corner and there was this huge green snake that was long and scally. It's teeth are long and sharp. Then this wond appeared out of nowhere, and I don't know what got into me, but I was speaking nonsense. Then the snake disappeared, and I was banished from that place.

I woke up in the infirmary with a crowd of people around me. They started asking lots of question. Then I saw that same lady again that was by me outside. She looked really shocked. This man asked, " do you know Harry?" I asked in confusion, " who is Harry?" All of a sudden I heard a loud noise I looked over at the door and this man walked in. He asked, "what are you doing here?" I asked, " what do you mean, I don't even know you." He tells the person next to me that I was his sister. I was in shock. Was I really related to him? I have never seen him before. Then before I know it I fell asleep.

I woke up back in my room, and it was morning. I walked out of my room to look at the Christmas tree to see if the ornament was still there, but it was gone. Could I have been dreaming the entire time? I couldn't remember anything but the ornament. My sister must of heard me get up. She asked where is the snowglobe ornament, where did it go? I thought to myself what is going on? Even though I knew what she was talking about I pretended like I didn't and never talked about it again.